What is this product?

Type: Units of AMUNDI EUROPEAN SECTOR ROTATION FUND, a UCITS (Undertaking for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities), established in the form of an FCP.

Term: The product has a duration of 99 years. The Management Company may dissolve the product by means of liquidation or merger with another product in accordance with legal requirements.

AMF Classification ("Autorité des Marchés Financiers"): Securities from European Union countries

Objectives: By subscribing to AMUNDI EUROPEAN SECTOR ROTATION FUND, you are exposed to the European equity markets through the implementation of index-based management.

The fund's management objective is to replicate as accurately as possible the performance of the European Sector Rotation Net Return Index (the "Strategy Index") minus ongoing charges, regardless of its performance, positive or negative.

The maximum tracking error objective, calculated based on a rolling twelve months, between the growth of the net asset value of the Fund and that of the Strategy Index is 2%.

The Strategy Index, net dividends reinvested (dividends net of tax paid by the shares in the index are included in the index calculation) is denominated in euro. It is developed, calculated and published by UniCredit Bank AG. The shares included in the composition of the Strategy Index are all derived from the STOXX® Europe 600 index, the Strategy Index providing exposure to a selection of sectoral indices that make up the STOXX® Europe 600 index. The composition of the Strategy Index is defined by applying a quantitative model that aims to select the sector indices of the STOXX® Europe 600 index that can make the most of the different phases of the economic cycle in Europe. To do this, three baskets are defined:

- a cyclical basket comprising five sector indices of the STOXX® Europe 600 index, which have high sensitivity in terms of performance to the phases of economic recovery,
- a defensive basket comprising five sector indices of the STOXX® Europe 600 index, which have high stability in terms of performance during an economic downturn,
- a neutral basket consisting of the STOXX® Europe 600 index.

The actual allocation of the Strategy Index between the baskets is determined by two signals:

- Signal 1 (growth forecast) is based on a quantitative methodology linked to the change in the level of the Business Expectations sub-index of the Ifo Business Climate Index,
- Signal 2 (relative performance) is based on a quantitative methodology leading to overweighting the allocation of the Strategy Index on the one of the three baskets that had the highest average monthly performance over the previous three months.

Further information on the composition of the baskets and the allocation methodology between the baskets is available in the prospectus.

Further information on the composition and operation of the Strategy Index is available in the prospectus and on the website www.onemarkets.de/ or www.onemarkets.it. The value of the Strategy Index is available via Reuters (.UCGRESRN) and Bloomberg (UCGRESRN).

In order to gain exposure to the Strategy Index, the fund exchanges the performance of the assets held by the fund against that of the Strategy Index by entering into "total return swaps" (synthetic replication of the Strategy Index). The fund is exposed to currency risk resulting from the difference between the currencies of some of the shares in the Strategy Index and the benchmark currency of the fund.

The fund is exposed to currency risk resulting from the difference between the currencies of some of the shares in the Strategy Index and the benchmark currency of the fund.

Within the framework of this fund, UniCredit Bank AG plays several roles that may give rise to conflicts of interest: index sponsor and/or agent for calculating the Strategy Index, total return swap (TRS) counterparty and marketer. Further information on potential conflicts of interest is available in the prospectus.

The UCI is passively managed and aims to replicate the performance of its index.
